Well I hate to make promises that I can't necessarily keep but... I THINK Frank in Accounts Payable is going to help - I THINK. As soon as we work out some details up here (i.e. what to do with the new callers - where they should send receipts - what about the ones we have already told to send receipts to you, etc) we will change our procedures. Until then, can we maintain status quo? I HOPE to have the new procedures in place by Monday. Will that work?

No problem with the reschedule. The price is a status on how you are going to handle the checks with accounts payable. Am I off the hook or can I look forward to my waning years signing checks for fat people who are a little afraid of some silly lung problem
